AN IMPRESSIVE PAIR OF CAROLEAN STYLE OAK MASTER'S THRONES,

19th Century, ex. Oxford University, probably from a College Dining Hall or Chapel, each with a rectangular back-rest, with raised and fielded panels to front and back and surmounted with a heavily moulded broken swan-neck pediment, the serpentine arm-rests with scrolled termini, and the wide plank seat, all raised on barley-twist supports, ball-feet and a plain stretcher,

DIMENSIONS: 172cm (67<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" ) High, 100cm (39<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" ) Wide, (86 x 46cm on the ground)

STOCK CODE: 45286

HISTORY

Research continues to the precise origin of this large pair of oak thrones. De-commissioned, they had languished in a joiner's Oxford workshop for many years pending restoration. They may have originated in the Bodleian Library, the Sheldonian theatre, or any one of the dining rooms or chapels that grace Oxford. LASSCO was happy to acquire them and undertake the restoration.

The scale and grandeur of the chairs certainly indicates their home was centre-stage in a very grand, formal space.
