DIVAGATIONS III, BY HENRI MATISSE, VERVE VOL. 1 / NO. 1.

Original print published for Verve in 1938

The Verve Review was a purposefully luxurious. It ran from 1937 to 1960, but with only 38 editions available, due to the high degree of design and editorial work dedicated to each issue. Each edition contained unique lithographic prints, commissioned by the editor, and each cover a double-page lithograph elaborated by one of the artists contained within. It was the brainchild of its editor Stratis Eleftheriades, a Greek National who moved to Paris in the early thirties to take part in the growing Modernist movement, writing under the name of Teriade.

DIMENSIONS: 51cm (20") High, 40cm (15<sup>3/4</sup>") Wide, 2cm (0<sup>3/4</sup>") Deep
