HISTORY

Carlo Nason is regarded as one of Italy's most exciting and inventive glass artists, particularly loved for his use of historical techniques in the production of unique lamps, vases, and sculptures. Born in 1935 in Murano, Italy, he and his family come from generations of influential glass blowers for the Island of Murano. He was encouraged to work in the glass blowing process from an early age, and still lives and works in Murano, Italy. His works are in the collections of the Corning Museum of Glass and The Museum of Modern Art in New York.
