THE COLLECTOR BY DAN HILLIER (1973-2024)

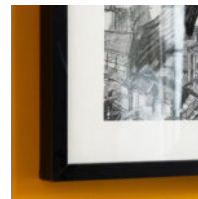

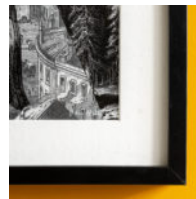

Signed and numbered giclée print.

Dan Hillier captured the zeitgeist of the early noughties with his collages that combined Victorian source materials with human, animal, and arcane elements into mysterious surreal art works. Born in Oxfordshire he went on to study Illustration and Graphic Arts at Anglia Ruskin University in Cambridge, later living and working in Stoke Newington, London. Beginning to sell his prints from a market stall in East London he eventually attracting the attention of prestigious gallerists and commercial collaborators like Shakespeare's Globe, Marc Jacobs, Louis Vuitton and the National Theatre. Dan's distinctive art graced the opening titles of the 2018 BBC drama series Requiem. He moved to Dartmoor in 2022 to be closer to his family and nature but sadly, Dan Hillier passed away in 2024 following a short illness.
